All receivers and modems are the property of Northwest Communications (NC). If service is disconnected, all equipment (including cables and remotes) need to be returned to NC or a fee of up $500 will be charged (for each receiver/modem) or legal action will be taken. The customer is responsible for the complete care of the Digital receiver and/or DVR and/or modem and any negligence on their part resulting in damage, operation of the receiver/modem, or permanent visual blemishes may result in an associated charge. NC is not responsible for any associated components, e.g. surround sound, VCR's, DVD's, etc...and therefore have no liability. NC does not take any responsibility for electrical power surges or lightening damage. We recommend that the customer uses a surge protector with their digital cable service and internet service.

Services are billed one month in advance. Prices are subject to change.

I have read and understand this application and disclaimer. I understand the installation charges which will be paid in advance with the application. I will abide by this application for service.
